

Briefing on

Emerging Challenges and Best Practices in Managing Human Rights in Labor Force and Supply Chain

1-hour briefing by and discussion with Acorn International

We will share our experience and insights gained from years of working with industries and investors worldwide to assess and manage emerging human rights challenges.

Participants can expect to gain:

- Overview of human rights challenges as current risks to businesses
- Emerging acceptable practice for managing that risk
- Case studies
- Suggestions: when should action be taken, and how much due diligence is enough
- Open discussion of your questions and situations

Please contact Dean Slocum or Andrew Buchman to schedule a session.

dslocum@acornintl.net; abuchman@acornintl.net

Our experience in human rights assessment and management includes:

- Review of corporate human rights policy and communications for company preparing for CHRB review
- Human rights risk and management training for supermajor oil company
- Human rights and supply chain management benchmarking for international company
- Human rights standards and training for a global mining company
- Indigenous and vulnerable people labor rights anti-discrimination review and advice for a renewable energy development in Mexico
- Audit of labor management practices for supply chain contractors in Colombia
- Human rights due diligence assessments for operations in US, Colombia and South Africa
- Evaluated labor and security human rights risks as part of >15 non-technical risk reviews throughout the Americas, Africa and Europe

Acorn International, LLC
BOS | IAH | BOG | Worldwide